

A History of the Balkans
1804–1945

Stevan K. Pavlowitch

LONGMAN
London and New York

Contents

List of maps	viii
1 Introduction	1
From the Roman to the Ottoman Empire	1
Ottoman and Habsburg rule	6
The transition of the eighteenth century	14
2 The awakening of nationalities, 1804–30	23
From Phanariot Byzantinism to revolution	23
The ‘Serbian revolution’	27
The end of Phanariot rule in the Principalities	31
The Greek War of Independence	35
Empires connected across peripheries	40
3 Self-rule, constitutions and revolutions, 1830–56	45
The Principalities under Organic Statutes	47
Autonomous Serbia	53
Otho’s Greek kingdom	58
Tanzimat and revolution in the empires	64
4 The Balkan states under loosened power control, 1856–78	72
The fall of Otho and the advent of George I	75
From Alexander Karadjordjević to Michael Obrenović	79
The union of the Principalities	86
5 The imperial Balkans through crises and reforms, 1856–78	95
Habsburg compromises: Ausgleich and Nagodba	95
Ottoman reforms: renewed Tanzimat and exarchate	101
The Eastern crisis and the Congress of Berlin	108

6	From the Congress of Berlin to 1900 – Part 1	115
	Southern Slavs and Romanians under the Dual Monarchy	116
	Serbia of the progressives and radicals	122
	Romania of the liberals and conservatives	129
7	From the Congress of Berlin to 1900 – Part 2	137
	Bulgaria's difficult beginnings	137
	Turkey-in-Europe	144
	Greece between Trikoupis and Deligiannis	150
	Unmixing, building and inventing nations	155
8	The tail end of the nineteenth century, 1900–14 – Part 1	162
	The foundations of the Ausgleich undermined	162
	The Young Turks behind the Porte	167
	A 'golden age'? Serbia under King Peter, and Montenegro	173
	Independence and Macedonia: Bulgaria under King Ferdinand	178
9	The tail end of the nineteenth century, 1900–14 – Part 2	186
	Self-confidence restored: Greece under King George	186
	Towards electoral and agrarian reform: Romania under King Charles	190
	The Balkan Wars and their aftermath	196
	National states, peasants and development	202
10	The First World War and the Paris peace settlement, 1914–20	208
	From Sarajevo to Salonika	209
	Confusion, division and occupation	215
	The sudden end	220
	The peace settlements	224
11	The 1920s – Part 1: The losers	230
	The newcomer: Albania	232
	The loser in victory: Greece	237
	The loser in defeat: Bulgaria	242
12	The 1920s – Part 2: The winners	249
	Greater Romania	249
	The Kingdom of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes	257
	Recovery and precarious stability	266

13	The 1930s – Part 1	269
	Out of Depression into Großraum	269
	Yugoslavia under King Alexander and Prince Paul	274
	Bulgaria under King Boris	282
14	The 1930s – Part 2	288
	Greece under Venizelos and Metaxas	288
	Romania under King Charles II	293
	Albania under King Zog	299
15	The Second World War, 1939–45	307
	From the Nazi–Soviet Pact to the Nazi–Soviet clash	307
	The Balkans in the shadow of the other fronts	313
	From Stalingrad to the capitulation of Italy	319
	The end	323
16	Conclusion	331
	Just a toponym	331
	Why 1804–1945?	333
	The history of the Balkans	335
	Explanations, apologies, acknowledgements	338
	Guide to further reading	340
	General histories and other general works on the Balkans	340
	Albania	341
	Bulgaria	341
	Greece	342
	Romania	343
	The Yugoslav lands	345
	Glossary	347
	Maps	351
	Index	357