

Alternative Food Networks

Knowledge, practice, and politics

David Goodman, E. Melanie DuPuis, and Michael K. Goodman

Contents

Acknowledgments	ix
List of abbreviations	xi
PART I	1
Alternative food networks: reflexivity and shared knowledge practice
1 Introducing alternative food networks, fair trade circuits and the politics of food	3
2 Coming home to eat? Reflexive localism and just food	11
3 Bridging production and consumption: alternative food networks as shared knowledge practice	33
PART II
Alternative food provisioning in the UK and Western Europe: introduction and antecedents	55
4 Rural Europe redux? The new territoriality and rural development	65
5 Into the mainstream: the politics of quality	85
6 Changing paradigms? Food security debates and grassroots food re-localization movements in the UK and Western Europe	105

PART III

Alternative food movements in the USA: formative years, mainstreaming, civic governance, and knowing sustainability

129

- 7 Broken promises? US alternative food movements, origins, and debates 131
- 8 Resisting mainstreaming, maintaining alterity 155
- 9 Sustainable agriculture as knowing and growing 174

PART IV

Globalizing alternative food movements: the cultural material politics of fair trade

195

- 10 The shifting cultural politics of fair trade: from transparent to virtual livelihoods 203
- 11 The price and practices of quality: the shifting materialities of fair trade networks 222
- 12 The practices and politics of a globalized AFN: whither the possibilities and problematics of fair trade? 234
- 13 Concluding thoughts 245

Notes 250

References 259

Index 298