

The Stata Journal (2002)
2, Number 4, pp. 358–377

Estimation of average treatment effects based on propensity scores

Sascha O. Becker
University of Munich

Andrea Ichino
EUI

Abstract. In this paper, we give a short overview of some propensity score matching estimators suggested in the evaluation literature, and we provide a set of Stata programs, which we illustrate using the National Supported Work (NSW) demonstration widely known in labor economics.

Keywords: st0026, propensity score, matching, average treatment effect, evaluation