

GREENING
EU COMPETITION LAW
AND POLICY

SUZANNE KINGSTON

CAMBRIDGE
UNIVERSITY PRESS

CONTENTS

Foreword	page xi
Acknowledgements	xiii
List of abbreviations	xv
Introduction	1
PART I Should environmental goals play a role in EU competition law and policy?	7
1 Environmental protection in EU competition theory to date	9
Introduction	9
An ordoliberal approach	11
Role of environmental factors	17
The Harvard School	20
Role of environmental factors	22
The Chicago School	23
Role of environmental factors	34
Other views of competition theory	34
Role of environmental factors	37
Conclusion: a European model of competition theory	38
2 The rise of the market in EU environmental policy	41
Introduction	41
The beginnings: direct regulation as the EU's primary environmental regulatory instrument	42
The shift towards economic instruments in EU environmental policy	49
Focus on market-based instruments most relevant to EU competition policy	56
State subsidies and taxes	56
Tradable permits	60
Incentivisation of voluntary environmental initiatives	75
Conclusion: the new environmental governance and its implications for competition policy	93

- 3 Why environmental protection goals should play a role in EU competition policy: a legal systematic argument 97
- Introduction 97
- Placing environmental goals in the context of the EU's economic objectives and the significance of Articles 7 and 11 TFEU 98
- The remarkable evolution of EU environmental policy 98
- The Treaties' solutions to reconciling the EU's economic and environmental goals and the significance of Articles 7 and 11 TFEU 102
- A systematic approach to the EU free movement and competition rules 119
- Conclusion 124
- 4 Why environmental protection goals should play a role in EU competition policy: a governance argument 126
- Introduction 126
- Coherence of policy action as a requirement of good governance and its application to environmental policy 127
- The White Paper on European Governance 127
- Developments since the White Paper 131
- Applying good governance principles to EU competition law enforcers 133
- The EU courts 133
- The Commission 139
- National courts and national administrative competition authorities 151
- 5 Why environmental protection goals should play a role in EU competition policy: an economic argument 163
- The role of the environment in economic theory 164
- Classical economics and the limits to growth debate 164
- The approach of neo-classical economics to the environment: environmental damage as market failure 169
- Revisiting the consumer welfare goal of EU competition policy 171
- Measuring consumer surplus: an environmental economics approach 176
- The concept of environmental valuation 176
- Methods of valuing environmental resources 179
- Techniques of environmental valuation 181
- Going further? An ecological economics approach 186
- Conclusion: can these techniques be applied to EU competition policy? 189

PART II The role of environmental protection in
EU competition law and policy in practice		195
6	Some preliminary issues: definition of an undertaking; market definition; effect on inter-State trade	197
	Introduction	197
	Relevance of environmental concerns to the definition of an undertaking	197
	Definition of the relevant market	205
	Relevant product and service markets	208
	Relevant geographic market	217
	Effect on inter-State trade	219
	Trade between Member States	220
	Potential effect on inter-State trade	221
	Appreciable effect on inter-State trade	223
7	Article 101(1) TFEU	225
	Introduction	225
	Agreements, decisions by an association of undertakings, or concerted practices	225
	Object or effect of preventing, restricting or distorting competition on the market	227
	Overview of the concept of restriction of competition	227
	The ancillary restraint principle and its application to environmental cases	233
	Relevance of environmental factors to the concept of restriction: some practical examples	242
	Conclusion	260
8	Article 101(3) TFEU	261
	Introduction: the relevance of non-economic factors	261
	The Article 101(3) TFEU conditions and their application to environmental agreements	265
	Condition 1: the agreement must improve the production or distribution of goods or promote technical or economic progress	266
	Condition 2: consumers must receive a fair share of the resulting benefit	276
	Condition 3: the agreement must not contain dispensable restrictions	280
	Condition 4: the agreement must not substantially eliminate competition in the relevant market	287
	Conclusion	293

9	Article 102 TFEU	294
	Introduction: the debate on the function of Article 102 TFEU		294
	Dominance	297
	Abuse of a dominant position and environmental protection considerations	299
	The concept of abuse	299
	Objective justifications	304
	Relevance of environmental considerations	307
	Examples of the relevance of environmental considerations to individual abuses	312
	Conclusion	326
10	EU merger policy	328
	Introduction: a role for environmental considerations in the EU's merger regime?	328
	Overview	329
	Efficiencies	332
	Article 21(4) of the Merger Regulation and national measures taken in the environmental interest	340
	Conclusion	342
11	The relevance of State action to Articles 101 and 102 TFEU	343
	Introduction	343
	State action as a defence for undertakings	343
	The duties of the State under the Van Eycke doctrine	348
	Duty not to require or favour the adoption of anti-competitive agreements or abuse by a dominant undertaking	349
	Duty not to reinforce the effects of anti-competitive agreements or an abuse by a dominant undertaking	351
	Duty not to deprive legislation of official character by delegation	354
	Article 106(1) TFEU: rights granted to privileged undertakings	355
	Public undertakings and undertakings granted special or exclusive rights	356
	Measures in breach of Articles 101 or 102 TFEU	359
	Article 106(2) TFEU	363
	Entrustment with the operation of a service of general economic interest	365
	Obstruction of the performance of the tasks assigned	370
	Conclusion	377

12	State aid	379
	Introduction	379
	Article 107(1) TFEU: when do national environmental measures constitute State aid?	380
	An advantage granted to an undertaking	380
	From Member State resources	385
	Selectivity	392
	Tax reductions and exemptions	393
	Distortion of competition and effect on trade between Member States	404
	Application of Article 106(2) TFEU	405
	Exemption for environmental aid: Article 107(3) TFEU	405
	The 2008 Guidelines on State Aid for Environmental Protection and the Block Exemption for Environmental Aid	405
	Article 107(3)(c) TFEU: aid ‘to facilitate the development of certain economic activities or of certain economic areas’	410
	Article 107(3)(b) TFEU: aid ‘to promote the execution of an important project of common European interest’	423
	Discussion	426
	Conclusion	433
	PART III Conclusions	435
	Conclusions	437
	Select bibliography	446
	Index	459	