

PRINCIPLES OF BANKING LAW

ROSS CRANSTON

CLARENDON PRESS · OXFORD
1997

Contents

Table of Cases	xix
-----------------------	-----

PART I: BANKS, BANKING AND BANK REGULATION

Chapter 1: Banking and bank organizations	3
I: The nature of banking	4
A. Common law definitions	4
B. Statutory definitions	6
C. Deposit taking: the UK approach	7
D. The EC approach	9
II: Banking structures	10
A. Branches	10
B. Representative offices	14
C. Banking groups	14
D. Bank mergers and acquisitions	15
E. Bank insolvency	19
III: The multifunctional bank	21
A. Growth of multifunctional banking	21
B. Legal problems with multifunctional banks	23
C. The securities laws and conflicts of interest	26
D. Self regulation and conflicts of interest	30
IV: Banks and industry	32
A. Banks and non-financial activities	32
B. Industrial ownership of banks	35
C. Banks as owners of industry	36
D. 'Bancassurance'	38
Chapter 2: Interbank networks	40
I: Networks	40
II: Correspondent banking	42
A. The nature of correspondent banking	42
B. The correspondent's error	44
III: The interbank markets	47
A. Contracting on interbank markets	48

B. Standard form documentation	49
C. The terms and their interpretation	51
D. 'Soft' regulatory law	53
IV: Exchange markets and clearing systems	53
A. The rules of the market/system	55
B. The position of non-member customers	56
C. Regulation of markets and clearing systems	58
V: Bank syndicates	59
A. 'True' syndicates and participation syndicates	59
B. The severalty clause in context: syndicated loans	60
C. Subscription agreements for securities issues	61
D. Legal characterization of a syndicate	62
E. The agent bank	65
F. The lead's liability for the information memorandum	66
Chapter 3: Bank regulation	68
I: Reasons for regulation	70
A. Systemic risk	71
B. Prevention of fraud and money-laundering	73
C. Consumer protection and deposit insurance	78
D. Competition (anti-trust) policy	83
II: Techniques of prudential regulation	84
A. Machinery of prudential regulation	85
B. Capital adequacy	92
C. Large exposure regulation	94
D. Crisis management—bank rescues	96
III: Regulating the multifunctional bank	100
A. Glass–Steagall in the United States and Japan	102
B. Universal banking in the EC and the CAD	103
C. The special problem of derivatives	106
D. Securities regulation and banks: institutional arrangements	108
IV: Regulating international banks	109
A. National measures	110
B. Consolidated supervision: allocating regulatory responsibilities	110
C. Making consolidated supervision more effective post BCCI	113
D. Regulating international banks and the future	116

Chapter 4: Central banking	117
I: Banker to the banks and to government	117
A. The banks' bank	117
B. Government banker	118
II: The legal regime for central banking	120
A. Status	121
B. Structure of central banks	124
C. Central bank objectives	125
III: Instruments of monetary policy	127
IV: Financing government	130
V: Conclusions	131

PART II: BANKS AND THEIR CUSTOMERS

Chapter 5: The banker–customer relationship	137
I: Bank customers and banking services	137
A. Matters of definition	137
B. Characterising the banker–customer relationship	139
II: Banking contracts	141
A. Identifying the customer	142
B. Validity of a banking contract: authority and capacity	144
C. The bank's mandate	149
D. Contract terms	151
III: Regulating banking contracts	153
A. The common law	154
B. UCTA	156
C. The Unfair Terms in Consumer Contracts Directive	159
D. The banking code and banking ombudsman	168
IV: The bank as depository—the account	170
A. The current account	171
B. Statements of the account	175
C. Combination of accounts	176
D. Bank charges	177

Chapter 6: The duty of confidentiality	179
I: An outline of the duty	179
A. Nature and justification of the duty	179
B. Basis of the duty	182
C. Scope of the duty	183
II: Qualifications to the duty	186
A. Compulsion of law	188
B. Public interest	190
C. Customer's consent	191
III: International dimensions	194
Chapter 7: Advisory and transactional liability	196
I: Doctrinal bases of liability	197
A. Reasonable care and skill	199
B. Fiduciary law	201
C. Knowing assistance, inconsistent dealing and knowing receipt	205
D. Emerging standards: due diligence, suitability, good faith	212
II: Determining the content of liability standards	214
A. Banking practice	215
B. Industry and regulatory codes	216
C. Bank manuals	218
D. Type of transaction and customer	218
III: Advice	220
A. Duty to advise	220
B. Liability for advice given	224
IV: Vitiating factors in banking transactions	227
A. Undue influence, unconscionability and duress	228
B. Vitiating and third party behaviour	232
V: Lender liability	237
A. Promoting risky loans	238
B. Management and termination of a facility	239
C. Workouts, receiverships, and insolvencies	241
D. Environmental liability	245

III. PAYMENT AND PAYMENT SYSTEMS

Chapter 8: Principles of payment	249
I: Basic elements and mechanisms	251
A. Basic elements	251
B. Payment methods: credit/debit transfers	253
C. In-house, domestic, correspondent, and complex payment	254
II: Discharging payment obligations, countermand, funds availability, and completion	257
A. Discharge of underlying payment obligation	258
B. Countermand	262
C. Availability of funds	263
D. Completion of payment	263
III: Mistaken and void payments	264
A. Mistaken payments	264
B. Void payments	271
IV: The identification rules—tracing	272
Chapter 9: Payment methods	277
I: Cheques	277
A. The nature of cheques	278
B. Collection of cheques	282
II: International cheques, eurocheques, and travellers' cheques	288
A. The use of cheques cross-border	288
B. Processing cross-border cheques	290
C. London Currency Clearings	293
D. Eurocheques	294
E. Travellers' cheques	296
III: Payment cards	297
A. The contract networks	297
B. Regulating payment cards	300
Chapter 10: Settlement, clearing, and netting	304
I: Settlement and clearing	305

A. Settlement and clearing systems	305
B. The rules of clearing systems	307
C. Regulating clearing systems	309
II: Netting	313
A. Netting and risk	314
B. Legality of netting	316
C. Multi-jurisdictional and multilateral netting	320

PART IV: BANKS AND FINANCE

Chapter 11: Lending	325
I: Identifying the agreement	326
A. Inferring an agreement and agreements to agree	326
B. Varying the agreement	327
C. Commitment letters	327
D. The adviser-arranger	329
E. Mandate of lead bank in forming bank syndicate	330
II: The facility and its repayment	331
A. Draw-down and demand facilities	331
B. The obligation to lend and force majeure	332
C. Purpose clauses, illegality and vires	333
D. Repayment	334
E. Interest	337
F. Payment and the rule against penalties	337
III: Conditions precedent, representations and warranties, covenants	339
A. Conditions precedent	339
B. Representation and warranties	340
C. Covenants	340
D. Breach by the borrower	341
IV: The negative pledge and pari passu clauses	342
A. Negative pledge lending	342
B. Ambit of the negative pledge	343
C. Bank v. borrower for breach of negative pledge	344
D. Bank v. third party on breach of negative pledge	346
E. The pari passu clause	349

V: Default	349
A. The default clause	349
B. General law limits on acceleration/cancellation?	350
C. The commercial realities	351
Chapter 12: Banks and the capital markets	353
I: Types of securities, subordination, and custody	353
A. Types of securities	354
B. Subordinated capital	357
C. Custody services	359
II: Distributing securities issues	363
A. Mechanics of distribution	364
B. Protection for the bank vis-à-vis the issuer	366
C. A bank's liability to investors	367
D. Trustees to debt issues	371
III: Securities regulation	375
A. Licensing and the ISD	376
B. The prospectus provisions	378
C. Marketing securities issues	382
D. Selling restrictions	383
E. Stabilization	385
Chapter 13: Loan sales and securitization	386
I: Legal techniques for transferring debts/contractual rights	387
A. Novation	387
B. Assignment and its limitations	388
C. Legal and equitable assignment	390
D. Trust; attornment	392
II: Selling loan assets	392
A. Techniques for loan sales	393
B. The sale agreement and its implications	397
C. Regulation	400
III: Securitization	402
A. Forms of securitization	403
B. Transfer of loan assets	405
C. Risk	406
D. Regulation	408

Chapter 14: Trade finance	412
I: Bills of exchange	413
A. Trade bills	414
B. The underlying transaction	416
C. Acceptance credits	417
D. Forfaiting	418
II: Letters of credit	420
A. Basic features	421
B. Fundamental principles	423
C. Trust receipts	425
III: Demand guarantees	426
A. Legal character	427
B. Fraud and enjoining banks from paying	428
C. Indemnities	431
Chapter 15: Security	432
I: Security: its nature and rationale	432
II: Types of security: pledge, mortgage, and charge	435
A. A brief overview	436
B. Pledging goods and documents	437
C. Mortgaging life assurance policies	438
D. Receivables financing by way of security	438
E. Security over contracts—project finance	439
F. The floating (universal business) charge	441
III: Some current issues	443
A. Security over securities	443
B. Quasi-security—repos and stock lending	446
C. Conflict of laws	448
IV: Ineffective security	450
A. Vitiating factors in formation	450
B. Non-compliance with formalities	452
C. Statutory vulnerability	454

PART V: THE INTERNATIONAL DIMENSION

Chapter 16: International banking	459
I: Nature of international banking	459
A. Recent growth in international banking	460
B. Forms of international banking	461
II: The host country response	462
A. Facilitating foreign banks	462
B. Limiting foreign banks	464
C. The concept of reciprocity	465
III: Regional and international measures	470
A. The single licence and the single European market	470
B. The GATS	472
Chapter 17: Cross-border banking	474
I: Introduction	474
II: The problems examined	475
A. Regulating the multinational bank	475
B. Extraterritorial jurisdiction	476
C. Moratoria and freezes	480
D. Anti-suit injunctions	485
E. Secrecy laws	486
III: Resolving a clash of jurisdictions	488
A. Avoiding problems	489
B. Judicial decision-making: comity and balancing	489
C. International co-operation	491
D. International harmonization	494
IV: Conclusion	494
Index	497