

Review of: "Generic Competences in University Students from Barranquilla, Colombia"

Rodolfo Scachetti<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Universidade Federal de São Paulo

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The article is well prepared and makes relevant contributions to the study of generic competences. Congratulations to the authors! The objectives are clear, but the methods could be better described. For example, how did the sample form? How did the collections take place? What exactly was the instrument (questionnaire) used? Which ethical procedures were observed? The results, discussion and conclusions are well developed and clear, except for the lack of a critical discussion about competencies, because this is not an unanimous topic.